。

RIBUNE!

THE DEAD DAY.

The argent and imperial Day
For all his wealth was made to yield.
He passed his gates of palms and lay
Far out upon his battered shield—
Lay calm and kinglike, with red garments rolled
In blood and gleaming burnishments of gold.

Then queenly Night came down and swathed. The king in sombre vestments new. She bowed her face above and bathed. His eyes in darkness and in dew. And closed and kissed them softly as she slid Aside the dead king's silvered coffin lid.

Some star-tipt candles toot and near,
Sweet perfumes of the perfumed sea,
And then above her codined dead
She drew great curtains lovingly,
And, as she hooked them on the bent moon's horn, Unloosed her hair and mourned and mourned till morn.

(Joaquin Miller.

COMMUNICATIONS RECEIVED

Gertrude Clark, of Jersey City, applied for mem-shine gift sent to Grace Beach at the Mebership; B. F. Boyd acknowledged with gratitude

morfal Hospital, Orange, N. J.; Miss Sadie M. Hull

president of the T. S. S. Branch at Danbury, Conn. reported the names of nine new members, also Sun shine distributed; Pauline Miner, of Norwalk ber: Mrs. Luther Scroggs will serve as president of

of New-York, sent a poem; Mrs. M. E. B. Story, o

Feading matter than Brooklyn.

Mrs. Roswell L. Hallstrom, of New-York City sent the following contributions: A beautiful calculation of the condar, for T. S. S. office: scrapbook pictures, sevendar, for T. S. S. office: scrapbook pictures, sevendar, monthly magazines, one pair of trousers

The following new names were added yesterday to the roll of Sunshiners: Pauline Miner, of Connecticut; Gertrude Clark, of Jersey City; Miss

Lena McClure and Mrs. Emma Taylor, of Ken-

Sovereigns," by the Rev. M. T. Jefferis, published

FRENCH DRESS, NO. 7.477, FOR COU-

PON AND 10 CENTS.

NO. 7.477-CHILD'S FRENCH

DRESS.

different guimpes. The front and back are shown different guimpes. The front and back are shown of cashmere, having an embroidered edge, while the sides are completed with an embroidered frill of cashmere. While material of this kind is not always available, the design furnishes suggestions that may be carried out daintily in simpler fabrics in one or a combination of material or coloring. It is also pretty for wash dresses of thin white stuffs that are worn by little girls over slips of silk or satin all winter.

Cashmere, veiling, challie and all other soft wool or sliken fabrics will develop prettily by the mode, lace, and embroidered edging and insertion, ribbon or braid being suitable trimming. To make this dress for a child of four years will require two and one-half yards of material thirty-six linches wide. The pattern, No. 7,477, is cut in sizes for girls of two, four and six years of age.

COUPON ENTITLING TO ONE PATTERN,

ANY SIZE, OF NO. 7,477.

Cut this out, fill in with name and address, and

mail it to THE PATTERN DEPARTMENT

No. 7,477.years.

..........

......

Inclose 10 cents to pay mailing and handling

OF THE TRIBUNE.

ranged to form frilled headings.

The sides are gathered to the lower edge of body lining, a band of the em broidered cash mere passing all foot of dress in front and back around the short waist. Bands to match pass over the shoulders to 13 Charles I.

19 Charles II.
19 Charles II.
20 George II.
21 George III.
22 George III.
23 William IV.
24 Mary.
25 Elizabeth.
28 Anne

1 William the Conqueror, 14 Richard III.

3 Henry II. 4 Richard Cœur de Llon.

5 John.
6 Henry III.
7 Edward I.
8 Edward II.
9 Edward III.
10 Henry IV.
11 Henry V.
12 Henry VI.
13 Edward V.

enteen monthly magazines, one pall one coat and two vests, for a soldie

nn., offered enrying tools for an invalid mem

Some star-tipt candles foot and head,

Selected by F. G. Langdon.

Have you had a kindness shown?

Pass it on.

'Twas not given for you alone—
Fass it on.

Let it travel down the years.

Let it wipe another's tears.

Till in heaven the deed appears—
Pass it on.

DALY OMAN'S DAGES

MRS. MARY E. FERENS, Secretary of the Board of Education, at New-Rochelle, N. Y.

STILL AIDING THE SOLDIERS.

REPORT OF THE WOMEN'S NATIONAL WAR RELIEF ASSOCIATION

THREE THOUSAND DOLLARS IN THE TREASURY-ALFRED H. BAILIS TELLS HIS STORY AND

regular meeting of the Executive Committee of the Women's National War Relief Association was held in the Windsor Hotel yesterday morning. Mrs. Walworth presided. Those present were Mrs. Eugene McLain, Mrs. V. R. Raymond, Mrs. Hull, Mrs. E. E. Anderson, Miss Helen Gould and Miss Anne Rhoades. The total receipts of the associato date are $37,608.34, and the balance in the bank is $3,370 40.

A check for $100 was received from Miss Warren, at Saratoga to be used in assisting furloughed soldiers, and $21, received through "The World" for the "suffering soldiers."
It was reported that the transport Victor carried

J. McIntosh and Edward A. Sumner with a large supply of necessities to Santiago. goods are intended for use at the yellow fever hospital, but if in the judgment of these two men they are needed at the general hospital, then they may distribute them as they see fit. Mr. Sumner is a lawyer, and will represent the association as The two representatives carry personal letters to General Corbin, General Lawton , and a letter from Captain McClintock, a Rough Rider, now ill at Fort Wadsworth, to General Wood. onel Greenleaf has also given them a letter to the medical authorities. The members of the assi clation feel that with these letters the way will be opened to their representatives, and the supplies hey have sent will get into the proper channels. Just as the meeting was closing considerable exditement was caused by the entrance of a man, by the name of Ballis, who begged the women to aid him to get to his home in Jacksonville, Fla. When asked if he was a soldier, he replied: "No. I am not a soldier, but if it hadn't been that I was shut up in prison down there I'd have been fighting Have been in prison, and just arrived on the Berlin Monday afternoon."

To Mrs. Walworth he then told the following in

"I am Alfred H. Bailts, of Jacksonville, Fla., and was at work on a Havana railroad at Cristo sta-tion at the time of the destruction of the Maine. As soon as hostilities commenced I secured my transport and prepared to come home on the Mas-

As Mr. Bailis had held his place two years and a he knew the country thoroughly, and can speak the Spanish language like a native. He was well browned, and being dark complexioned would with his companions, also Americans, he was taken prisoner and placed in Morro Castle before he could even notify the United States Consul of his trouble. At the end of a week he was taken from Morro Castle and separated from his companions. Mr. Bailis says he thinks the reason they were taken from Morro Castle was that they feared the destruction of the castle. He was taken to Cabanas, and kept there three and a half months, and fed twice a day on bread and water-some times he would be forgotten, and he would not get his bread and water for two days. The cell in which he was kept was about twelve feet long by five feet wide, just long enough, he said, for to take three steps without stopping.

During the time Mr. Ballis was confined he knew During the time Mr. Ballis was confined he knew nothing of what was going on. He could hear the booming of the cannon and the bugle sounds, but could learn none of the results of the battles. Finally, just a month ago yesterday, he was set free, for no special reason that he could discover. His clothes, papers and money, amounting to 523, were taken away from him when he was imprisoned, so he was turned out with absolutely nothing on him but Spanish rags. He was anxious to get back home, but was without friends. For three days he stayed in the town and slept on the plaza benches, but at the end of that time he was told by the Spanish authorities that if he did not get out of the town he would be put in prison assim get out of the town he again.

He went to the United States Army, and by the He went to the United States Army, and by the officers in charge was sent to Santiago on a boat belonging to the Martinez Line. Mr. Ballis says that all along the route of the steamboat, at every place they touched—that being fifteen towns—ne could see "where Uncle Sam had been pounding away in revenge of the Maine." The boats were thrown about and the docks ruined. He was taken as a Spaniard on this boat, which was carrying Spanish army officers and men, and dared not speak a word of English lest he get "hot beans," in the words of the boys. A Spanish volunteer gave him a straw hat, which Mr. Ballis is still wearing, a pair of old trousers and shirt, belonging to a Spanish soldier, and an old worn-out coat, which the Americans gave him. Upon arriving at Santiago he went to General Wood, who gave him a letter to the quartermaster in charge of ocean transportation, asking that Mr. Ballis be sent to the United States on the first transport that could accommodate him. Mr. Ballis then obtained passage on the Berlin, which arrived here Monday night.

He has a number of interesting relics in the way of newspapers which he picked up in Cuba, a theatrical programme and lattery tickers, which he bicked up on San Juan Hill. Mr. Bailis says that the Spaniards must have fied in great haste, because otherwise they would never have lost these tickets, as they look upon them the first thing in the morning and the last thing at night, so precious are these lottery affairs.

A paper, "Extraordinario & El Imparcial," dated September 18, has an interesting article, entitled "Last abexion de Jamaica," telling that the America.

A paper, "Extraordinario a El Imparcial," dated september is has an interesting article, entitled "La Anexion de Jamaica," telling that the American bulles and pigs are at Jamaica, trying to persuade the population there to revolt against the British and become one of the United States. It ends by saying: "Poer Mexico; she goes next. The Americans will not be satisfied until they extend from the North to the South Pole."

The programme describes the scenes at a continueus performance at the Teatro Solet, in Havana One scene, comprising boats made of pasieboard, shows the "brave Spanish squadron" sinking the "Tankee monitor Merrimac in the harbor of Santiago de Cuba," acknowledging that it takes the whole squadron to sink one American ship. A combat is portrayed between the Spanish ships Conde de Venadito and Nueva Espanis and La Fiecha, and the American squadron. The performance finishes up with the "explosion of the Maine". According to the programme, these scenes are "cheered nightly." The admittance charged is 10 and 25 cents.

Mr. Baliks was in Havana at the time of the Maine explosion, and says he feels convinced that the population was expecting it, for as a rule the streets are filed with negative and the streets are the described and the population was expecting it, for as a rule the streets are filed with negative and the streets are the described and the population was expecting it, for as a rule the streets are filed with negative.

and 25 cents.

Mr. Bailts was in Havana at the time of the Maine explosion, and says he feels convinced that the population was expecting it, for as a rule the afreets are filled with people after sunset, and the band plays on the plaza. However, this night exarcely anybody was on the streets, and the band 615 not play. After the explosion the streets were filled and the band began playing.

Mrs. Walworth sent Mr. Bailis to Camp Walworth, at No. 313 East Fifteenth-st., to spend the night and be cared for until the association could set transportation for him.

VOLUNTEERS ORDERED HOME.

Mr. Barnes, an agent of the Red Cross, cables Stephen E. Barton, of the Executive Committee here, that all volunteers in Porto Rico have been ordered home, and ten thousand will be sent from the United States to take their places. He predies that the sick rate will equal that of the present troops in Porto Rico ten days after their arrival, and states that he needs a large amount of stores for them and to stock the vessels starting North with troops.

THE DAY'S GOSSIP.

T. W. Surette will give his second lecture in the course of five on "Wagner's Music Dramas" at 8 o'clock this evening, at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall, No. 5 West One-hundred-and-twenty-fifth-st. The lecture is on "Die Walkure," and will be illustrated by musical selections and

The second lecture on American poetry by Professor Bevier, jr., will be given this evening at 8 o'ciock in St. Bartholomew's Lyceum Hall, No. 205 East Forty-second-st. He will speak on "John Greenleaf Whittler."

"Electrical Wonders in Our Daily Life" is the subject of the lecture to be given this evening at 8 o'clock in the hall of the Young Men's Institute, No. 222 Bowery. This is the first lecture in the course of nine to be delivered by Mr. Sachs, all of which will be accompanied by numerous experiments.

The above lectures are given under the auspices of the department of education of the School Board for the Boroughs of Manhattan and The Bronx.

The annual convention of the Delaware Woman's Christian Temperance Union opens to-day at Cam-den, and will close October 14.

Mrs. Selwyn Douglas, president of the Oklahoma and Indian Territory Federation, will be one of the speakers to-day at the meeting of the Athenaum Club, Kansas City,

Mrs. James Fowler Willing, Mrs. Hammer, Miss Kearney and Colonel Bain are the speakers to be heard at the twenty-fifth annual State convention of the New-Jersey Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The convention opens to-day, in the First Presbyterian Church of Elizabeth, and will be con-tinued until October 14.

Rudolphe L. Daus, an architect, of Brooklyn, gives an illustrated lecture, entitled "The Sanitary, Economic and Artistic Construction of Dwellings," at 4 o'clock to-day, in the assembly room, Pratt Institute, Ryerson-st., Brooklyn. The lecture is given under the auspices of the department of donestic science of the Brooklyn Institute of Arts and Sciences.

Under the auspices of the department of music. Carl Figué, a pianist and member of the Executive Committee of the department, will give a lecture-recital this afternoon at 4 o'clock in the Art ommittee of the dependence of Boston, will give lecture-recital at 8:15 o'clock this evening, on lecture-recital at 8:15 o'clock this evening, on Shakespeare in Music," at Association Hall, Bond and Fulton-sts.

and Fulion-sts.

The first session in the course of instruction on The Rise and Fall of the Spanish Empire," under the direction of Professor William C. Webster, will see held on the first floor of the Art Building at 8 o'clock this evening. The course is given under the auspices of the School of Political Science, and the remaining sessions will be held on succeeding Wednesday evenings.

The annual convention of the Connecticut Wom an's Christian Temperance Union, which opens at Torrington, Conn., to-day, will be continued until October 14. Those who will deliver addresses are Mrs. Frances J. Barnes, Mrs. Mary H. Hunt and John G. Woolley.

Officers of the Colorado Federation of Wom Clubs will be elected to-day at the meeting of the convention, at Greeley, this being the closing day.

The Vermont Federation of Women's Clubs holds its annual meeting to-day at Brattleboro.

The regular monthly meeting of the Woman's National War Relief Association will be held at 11 o'clock this morning at the Hotel Windsor.

Miss C. M. Russeil, of this city, began yesterday series of five free lectures and cooking demon strations at the Young Men's Christian Association Hall in Syracuse.

The Professional Woman's League has issued cards announcing the death of Mrs. Rachel Mc-Auley. They bear the usual inscription, "She is not dead, but sleepeth."

The presence of the members of the Executive Board of the General Federation of Women's Clubs adds much to the interest of the Nebraska Federation meeting, now being held at Omaha. This Board held its first meeting yesterday, when the question as to the time and place for holding the next blennial meeting of the General Federation was discussed. Invitations have been received from Milwaukee and Minneapolls, and there seems to be a general desire that the blennial be held in Octo-ber, rather than in May or June.

The Epworth League Circle of the Chester Hill Methodist Episcopal Church, Mount Vernon, gave a "welcome night" on Monday evening to those plexioned would who participated in the war with Spain. Miss He said that Mains, the eldest daughter of the Rev. Dr. George P. Mains, presided. Among the speakers was C. Vanderbeck, one of the members of the New-York Vanderbeck, one of the members of the New-York Naval Reserves, who served on the auxiliary cruiser Yankee. He gave an interesting sketch of life on a warship and an exciting account of his exeperiences in the Cuban campaign. D. Wade Lapham, a member of the Tist New-York Volunteers, enthused the audience by relating incidents connected with the Santiago campaign. Lieutenant Henry E. Rhoades, of the Navy, related several naval incidents of the Civil War, more especially the Missispipi campaign of June, 1862, and the sinking of the rebel ram Albemarle by Lieutenant Cushing on October 27, 1894, and closing with a brief résumé of the chief incidents of the war with Spain. Comrade Wilson recited a poem of the Civil War. war with Spain. of the Civil War.

The Mothers' Congress of the City of New-York met in the Grand Central Palace on Monday to outline the work for the coming season. Mrs. Fannie S. Barnes, the president, presided. A general discussion on "Nature Studies" was held, and several exhibits of shells, starfish and stuffed birds were on view. The next meeting will be held on November 14.

THE TRIBUNE MENU.

FOR THURSDAY, OCTOBER 13. BREAKFAST. Grapes. Baked bananas.
Hominy, sugar and cream.
Fried kidneys on toast.
Milk gems. Preserved watermelon.
Coffee. LUNCHEON.

Cold pork. Pickles.
Potatoes au gratin. Beet salad.
Stewed pears. Macaroni croquettes.
Cocoa. DINNER. Oysters.
Purée of potato soup.
Cheese fondu. Celery.
Baked haddock, lemon.

Coffee.

WHITE CUSTARD. Add to the white of one egg two teaspoonfuls of sugar and a small pinch of salt, and mix thoroughly together. Heat one teacupful of sweet milk, add to the above ingredients, and stir until quite smooth; then strain, if the egg is not entirely dis-solved. Pour into custard cups, cover with brown paper, set in a dish of boiling water, and bake in a moderate oven. Test the custard with a silver knife, which will come out quite clean if it is suf-ficiently cooked. Serve in the cups with cakes or MACARONI CROQUETTES. Break one pound of macaroni into small pieces and boil until soft. Melt an ounce of butter in a saucepan, add a teaspoonful of chopped onlon and parsley, two ounces of chopped bacon (cooked), one egg, a pinch of salt, a dash of black pepper and a little milk or white sauce, then add the macaroni, heat all together, and put on a plate to cool. Make into cakes, rolling in either bread or cracker crumbs, and fry in a pan of hot butter.

"STRONG MINDED" APPROVED

THE TERM AS APPLIED TO WOMEN NOT OBJECTED TO BY POLITICAL STUDY CLUB.

MRS. RAVENHILL TELLS A STORY ABOUT MRS BLAKE THAT CAUSES MERRIMENT, AND

SPEAKS OF "FASHIONABLE SUFFRAGE." If the "strong-minded woman" so much discuss vesterday at the meeting of the Society for Political Study was present, it was universally agreed that she knew how to defend herself in a witty manner that left no room for argument.

Mrs. T. St. John Gaffney, the president, presided at the gathering, which was held at the Tuxedo. Madison-ave, and Fifty-ninth-st., and an interesting paper, dealing with the history of the society during the thirteen years of its existence, was read by Mrs. Emily L. Wakeman, the society's first president. In this Mrs. Wakeman told that the club was the second one to be organized in the United States for political study, and that it was an auxiliary of the Woman's Suffrage Association at first. This latter fact caused some of the members to withdraw, so the club became an independent one,

In the discussion that followed Mrs. Margaret Ravenhill said that the women of to-day have no idea of what they owe to the ploncers of the sufovement. When she sees with what respect it is looked upon now, she declared that she was ready to agree with Susan B. Anthony, who, after receiving the greeting of a society gathering, said that when she remembered how she used to be rotten-egged for making known her sentiments, and now contrasted that with this experience, she was greatly afraid woman's suffrage was going to be talk, and Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates humorously remarked that it seemed strange that any woman should be censured because she was not feeble-minded.

The Rev. Phobe A. Hanaford gave a spirited little talk, and Mrs. Margaret Holmes Bates humorously remarked that it seemed strange that any woman should be censured because she was not feeble-minded.

"It is not so much that clever women are rebaked by a certain class of men for being strong-minded, as that the men feel out of place with them because they are not feeble-minded," she said.

This was greeted with much merriment and applause and brought forth several witty remarks from various members.

Lavinia Dempsey, queen of the Holland Dames, was at the meeting.

Mrs. Ravenhill in a few subsequent remarks drew the attention of the audience to Mrs. Lillie Devereux Blake, who tried to bear it with as much equanimity as possible. Mrs. Ravenhill told about a public meeting she attended at which she was introduced to a man who assured her that he detested strong-minded women, and did not want to meet one of them.

"Now, you have some distinguished-looking women here," he said, such as that fine-looking women here, he said, such as that fine-looking women over there," pointing to Mrs. Blake, 'and I should like indeed to be introduced to ther.

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill, "and a moment later my friend, the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill, "and a moment later my friend, the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill, "and a moment later my friend, the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill, "and a moment later my friend, the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill in the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill in the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill in the strongest-minded and cleverest woman present."

"And you shall!" I told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill told him," said Mrs. Ravenhill in the reins, box of crayon pencies, bookie; picture cards and a purple silk ribbon housewife's girdle, with sewing attachments, from the members of the T. S. S. Branch in Danbury, Conn.; history of the United States, from M. E. B. Story; a croquet set, from J. Augustus Rice, of Bethlehem, Penn., and reading matter from Mrs. Lewis Reynolds, of Brookley.

IRVINGTON AUXILIARY WORK.

DIFFERENT HOSPITALS AND CAMPS.

The Irvington Auxiliary has made the following report of the supplies it has sent to various hospitals from September 3 to October 10: Two hundred and sixty-seven comfort bags, each containing a handkerchief, a towel, soap, mirror, toothbrush, comb, pad of paper, pencil, three stamped envelopes, safety pins, and a war Testament, in which Miss Gould has written, "Happy is that people whose God is the Lord"; 511 pajamas, with a handkerchief in each pocket; 86 night shirts, 283 sets of underwear, 275 pairs of socks, 125 pairs of slippers, mosquito netting for 100 beds, 200 cots, 200 pillow-cases, 200 sheets, 3 gross of fever charts, 3,000 three-grain quintine pills, also 5,000 of pills to Santiago; 2 boxes of oranges. In addition, they have sent to the hospitals each week five dozen cans of tomatoes, two cases of eggs, thirtysix boxes of malt extract, one-half barrel oat flakes, fruit and ice cream, and seventy galions of milk daily. These supplies have gone to Mrs. Walworth, at Montauk, the hospitals at Fort Wadsworm, Governor's Island, Bedice's Island, Fort Hamilton, the 6th Cavalry, at Montauk: Marine Hospital, at Staten Island; Pablo Beach, Fla.; the Tarrytown Hospital, their own house at Irvington, Prohibition Park Sanitarium, Camp Jewett, and Camp Walworth, and the hospital ships Missouri and Relief. There is now in the treasury a balance of $234.23, and the total receipts to date are $3.42.73.

The enthusiasm has not slackened in the least, as the members still realize that there is as much need for their aid now as there has been at any time in the past. As this auxiliary is in the neighborhood of Miss Gould's home, she is particularly interested in it.

Our holiday makers are awake to the fact that there should be a proper observance of the birthday of the hemisphere. It is doubtful if many American children realize that it was 405 years ago to-day that Columbus discovered the Western Conthe Columbus Committee in Washington, and it was then resolved that a motion for a National holiday should be introduced into Congress. It is claimed that Columbus Day, owing to priority, should have the full sanction of a legal holiday, which is accorded to only a few of our National festivals.

The discovery of a new world has only once been

The discovery of a new world has only once been adequately celebrated, and that was the marvellous World's Fair at Chicago in 1882. On that occasion the Duke of Veragua, a descendant of Columbus, was made a guest of the Nation and received special honors.

An interval of 400 years is regarded as a long time to elapse between celebrations of such an important event; hence the activity of the Columbus Committee.

RED CROSS WORK AT MANILA.

Mrs. L. L. Dunbar, secretary of the California State Branch of the Red Cross, at San Francisco, sends the following report to Stephen E. Barton:

sends the following report to Stephen E. Barton:

We are in receipt of excellent and satisfactory reports of our work in Manila. Officers and private soldiers write most grateful letters of the good done by our nurses. We have now at Manila, bestides our financial agent, O. H. G. Schlott, twenty nurses, eight of whom are women. As many as are needed will remain for hospital work: the others will return to care for the sick and wounded being brought back on the hospital ships.

We have recently established at the Presidio a convalescent home, the necessity of which was forced upon us by the alarming number of deaths resulting from exposure and lack of care after serious illness. Upon being discharged from the hospital, the boys went back to their regiments, and many of them contracted colds from which they never recovered. The home was built with funds raised by our auxiliaries.

Aside from this work, we feel that we accomplished much in the way of forcing a better condition for the soldiers. The fact that the Red Cross is taking such an active interest has made better sanitary conditions in the camp and a marked improvement in the hospital service.

READY FOR CAMPAIGN WORK.

The Woman's Republican Association will be actively in the field of campaign work from now until election. Miss Helen V. Boswell has established headquarters at No. 152 West Sixty-fourth-st., from which active correspondence with Republican women throughout the State will be conducted and literature be distributed. Special literature relative to the conditions in both the cities and the country will be prepared and issued from this headquarters at little later on. Miss Mildred Reis will act as secretary of the campaign work, and either Miss Boawell or Miss Reid can be seen at the headquarters every day between the hours of 10 and 3 o'clock by any one desiring information.

QUEEN VICTORIA'S HOUSEKEEPING.

Though Queen Victoria's housekeeping is done by a deputy, yet she is in reality the mistress, and she perceives at once anything that goes wrong, and often suggests a remedy. Her Majesty is said to know and remember her valuable household possessions, and the places where they are kept. Elab sessions, and the place or orate catalogues, arranged according to her own ideas, are kept of many of her belongings. With all her innumerable table services, she is said to keep only three or four in ordinary use at Windsor. It is reported that a German Ambassador, who It is reported that a German Ambassador, who was visiting Windsor Castle, happened to mention that he was born at Fürstenberg, and the household, on coming to dinner, were surprised to see a strange set of china on the table. The Queen had ordered this set to be used, as it was decorated with scenes from her guest's native town. It had been put away for nine years, but the Queen had not forgotten it. Her Majesty is said to be kind to her servants, though she exacts what is due to her, but she is ready to consider a reasonable excuse in case a failure is made.

IT WAS A MOST LEGAL AFFAIR. At a recent wedding in Milwaukee, Wis., the entire ceremony appeared to be a "legal affair." bride, Miss Caroline Hamilton Pier, and the bride-groom, John Henry Roemer, were both lawyers. groom, John Henry Roemer, were both lawyers. But this was not all; the ceremony was performed by the bride's mother in her capacity as Court Commissioner, and the two bridesmaids, sisters of the bride, are also lawyers. The bride was graduated from the Wisconsin Law School in 1891 and since that time has been practising with her sisters. The mother, an elder member of the firm, has been engaged in practice since 1892 and the father, Coionel Calvert K. Pier, who died in 1895, was an active member of the bar.

OPENING OF THE WOMAN'S NATIONAL CHAMPIONSHIP AT ARDSLEY.

MISS BEATRIX HOYT MAKES THE BEST SCORE IN THE QUALIFYING ROUND-SIXTEEN PLAYERS PERMITTED TO QUALIFY INSTEAD OF

EIGHT-A BRILLIANT GATHERING WATCHES THE PLAT

Possibly among the whins and bents of Scotland there may be some bonnie lass who can play golf better, but certainly there are none who are pretwho tripped gayly over the Ardsley links yester day, when the woman's National golf champion-ship was begun. Fifty-four fair golfers took part in the qualifying round at medal play, and the ontest was royally fought and royally won. Beatrix Hoyt, who has twice triumphed in these National tournaments and whose name has become almos a synonyme for all that is graceful and successful in feminine endeavor on the links, made best score and broke all previous women's records for the course. Miss Hoyt's card for the eighteen holes was 92, four strokes better than the record she herself established in practice on Saturday, and eight strokes better than the recognized competitive record. Whatever fears have been fel as to her ability to maintain the championship watched her game yesterday doubts for a moment that the week's play will result in a third victory for the coveted championship title.

the Ardsley grounds. The hosts of contestants in natty golfing clothes, the throngs of gayly dressed spectators, and the brilliant autumn foliage of the links, all combined to make a picture of life and color well worth going miles to see. Around the first tee were stretched long ropes, to keep the onlookers from pressing too closely upon the players, and about these were gathered hundreds of eager spectators. C. Oliver Iselin drove to the clubhouse in his four-in-hand, and among his guests was Lieutenant Woodbury Kane, of the Rough links, bearing another jolly party of sightseers, It is doubtful if such an army of golfers and their friends have gathered at a women's contest in more appreciative or enthusiastic gathering, or one that has been rewarded with better play.

The arrangements for the comfort and pleasure of the visitors were admirably carried out. The Ardsley Greens Committee, aided by a corps of assistants, saw that nothing that could add to the uccess of the tournament was overlooked, and a number of members of the United States Golf Association were on hand to assist in the rather Curtis, president of the association, arrived from Boston in the early morning, and, together with Robert B. Kerr and Ransom H. Thomas, represented the Executive Committee, under whose charge the contest is being conducted. Yielding to the pressure which has been brought to bear on all sides, this committee met previous to the opening of the tourney and decided to increase the number of those eligible for the match play rounds from eight to sixteen. This action is a decided innovation, but one expediency of it is admitted by all. The enormous increase in the num-ber of entries and the injustice of excluding all but eight from a contest in which more than sixty tee's move. The announcement of the new conditions was greeted with enthusiastic applause. Their effect will be merely to add another day to the tournament, so that instead of Friday the Lena McClure and Mrs. Limina layar. S. Kuller, Mrs. Alexander McNii, of Minnesota; Mrs. W. Redwood, of New-York; Mrs. Charles Hull, Mrs. George T. Loomis, Mrs. Henry Crofut, Mrs. John Morris, Mrs. S. J. Keeler, Maude Griffin, Charlie Clark and Maurice Hull, of Connecticut. Considering the number of distant points repre-The historical puzzle on the "Deaths of English surprisingly few. Mrs. John Jacob Astor, about she would be unable to take part, and Mrs. Hobart Chatfield-Taylor, of Chicago, also failed to appear The other withdrawals were Miss Anne Archbold and Mrs. John T. Terry, jr., of Ardsley; Miss Helen Barney, of Shinnecock Hills; Miss Corinne Mock, of Philadelphia, and Mrs. J. J. Vatable, of Tuxedo. This left fifty-four competitors, and to the credit of feminine persistency it should be said that not one of these failed to complete the full eighteen No one gave every name correctly as sent by Mr.

Jefferis, but C. S. C. came the nearest to the proper solution, having only No. 11 wrong. The ster given below, which accompanied his solu-ion will not fail to amuse the members who are neterested in historical matters, and it also implies ome differences of opinion about a few answers: interested in historical matters, and it also implies some differences of opinion about a few answers:

"We inclose a nearly complete chronological list of the Kings of England from Whiliam I to William IV finised by three Queens as chief mourniers, which we submit as an answer to the puzzle in The Tribune. We are of the opinion that some of the 'dear departed' would be somewhat surprised to learn how they died. We have been told a great many times that Queen Anne was dead, but never that she died from dropsy. We attended her obsequies nine different times in nine different places yesterday, and every time she succumbed to spoplexy, but we had to put her down, as there was only Mary II left, and everybody knows she died from smallpox. We are shaky about No. If, and somewhat so as to No. 26, but we put him down as George I, having been told that "George the First was vie, and George the Fourth to earth descended, thank the Lord' the Georges ended."

Next on the roll of answers stood Mrs. G. O. Tappan, and Mrs. Calvin Whipple followed as No. 3.

THE TRIBUNE PATTERN.

A TISSUE-PAPER PATTERN OF CHILD'S FRENCH DRESS, NO. 7.477, FOR COU-

in three and to hole out in two more. In fact, there was nothing in her entire cound that the most critical could condemn, with the possible exception, perhaps, of the thirteenth hole, whose unlucky number probably explained her poor putting. On the sixteenth she sliced her drive, getting under a willow tree and being forced to play back. The lie was bad here, and an iron was necessary for the third shot. After that she topped her brassey and the hole ultimately cost her 6. But these little misfortunes were only to be expected in an eighteen-hole round, and they detracted little from the praise due her game.

Next to Miss Hoyt came Miss Edith B. Burt, of the Philadelphia Country Club, who made 100, and then followed Miss Madeline Boardman, of the Essex County Country Club, of Massachusetts, and Miss Grace B. Keyes, of the Concord Golf Club, hoth at 102. Miss Helen Shelton, of the Morris County Club, whose recent record of 103 for that links led many to expect great things of her, failed to get a place among the fortunate sixteen.

This morning the first round at match play is to begin, and the sixteen who made the best scores yesterday will alone be eligible to play. The others are out of the championship.

Mrs. F. E. Zerrahn, of the Brookline Country Club, of Boaton, had as her caddle John Kendrick Bangs, but notwithstanding the fact that she has aiready participated in two previous championships she also failed to qualify. The scores of the fortunate sixteen are given below in full:

Miss Beatrix Hoyt. Shinnecock Hills: This dainty dress of embroidered cashmere in pale blue shows yoke and sleeves of dark-blue velvet, which are made adjustable so as to do for ordinary or party wear. A short body lining supports the shirring that adjusts the fulness in front and back, the 5 5 6 4 5 6 4 6 5 46 92 pretty gathered bretelles standing out over the sleeves. Stylish puffs are mounted on fitted sleeves, which may be omitted, as here shown, and the dress may be finished without the yoke to went with or without

Miss Beatrix Hoyt, Shinnecock Hills:

Miss F. K. McLane, Baltimore,
Miss B. C. Howe, Pittsburg,
Mrs. H. B. Ashmore, Baitusrol
Miss Helen, Partish, Ardsley,
Mrs. Walter M. Gorham, Philadelphia,
Miss Eisle Cassatt, Philadelphia,
Miss Eisle Cassatt, Philadelphia
Miss Eisle Cassatt, Philadelphia
Miss Lucy H. Herron, Cincinnati,
Mrs. A. D. Witt Cochrane, Ardsley,
Mrs. M. W. Van Buren, Ardsley,
Mrs. M. Van Buren, Ardsley,
Miss Alice L. Day, Morris County,
Miss Alice L. Day, Morris County,
Miss Alice L. Day, Morris County,
Mrs. P. P. Kasch, Turedo.

Mrs. J. C. Patterson, Huntington Valley
Miss Grace Chauncey, Dyker Meadow
Mrs. F. L. Eldridge, Archies
Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer, Tuxedo
Mrs. T. Suffern Tailer, Tuxedo
Mrs. G. S. Farnam, Philadeiphia
Mrs. J. C. Tappin, Westbrook
Mrs. N. M. Garland, Marine and Field,
Miss M. C. Mauie, Philadeiphia,
Miss Grace Maxwell, Queens County
Miss Grace Maxwell, Queens County
Miss Martha Murphy, Albany
The drawings for the first con-

The drawings for the first round at match play this morning are: Miss Curtis and Mrs. Morgan. Miss Eidlitz and Miss Shearson, Miss Keyes and Miss Hoyt, Miss Burt and Mrs. Manice, Miss Boardman and Miss Underhill, Mrs. Shippen and Miss Griscom, Miss Cassatt and Mrs. Griener.

MR. ZANGWILL ON THE DRAMA.

HIS FIRST PUBLIC APPEARANCE IN AMER ICA AT THE LYCEUM THEATRE.

Israel Zangwill, the nevelist and critic, gave lecture at the Lyceum Theatre yesterday after noon, making his first public appearance in this country. His subject was "The Drama as a Fine He discussed the drama historically, philosophically, socially and artistically, in a rambling that the English mode of thought was diffuse and fragmentary than his own opinon that it ought not to be so. The discussion was kept in a semblance of coherency more by the declared dirision of the first half of it into first, second and third, and the second half into first, second and so on to seventh, than by any obvious Sequence in the thoughts expressed.

Mr. Zangwill said some cogent things in the course of his remarks, but the epigramatic sen-tences which gamboiled through them without any especial order were altogether the most telling parts of it. These were a few of them: "The objections of the Puritans to the drama were not un-just; stupid people are often right on wrong grounds." "The Hebrews felt the beauty of holi-ness, the Greeks felt the holiness of beauty." Churchgoers often take the sermon as art. son thing to be enjoyed and criticised, not to be acted upon." "Only foois follow rules; true, but wise men precede them." "When I want to be kind to my servant maid, I get her an order for a place where she can see something real—a snowstorm or a fire engine. She could see them in the street, but somehow it gives her acute joy to see them in the wrong place. "Some English managers make a great protestation of virtue, with their tongue in their cheek, or their cheek in their tongue." "The actor does not understand Euclid; he thinks that the part is greater than the whole."

Mr. Zangwill's delivery is not that of an accomplished orator. His voice is indifferent, to speak kindly of it. His body is never motionless for three seconds together, and in the course of five minutes he gets himself into an unbelievable number of clumsy attitudes. In spite of these things, he held the interest of the audience, which was a large one, in what he had to say for about an hour and three-quarters. upon." "Only fools follow rules; true, but wis three-quarters.

MR. CONNELL SAILS FOR JAPAN.

HIS ADHERENTS IN THE FIFTH AVENUE CHURCH SAY HIS DEPARTURE WILL NOT AFFECT HIS CANDIDACY. The Rev. Alexander Connell, who has been reemmended by the Session of the Fifth Avenue Presbyterian Church to succeed Dr. Hall, sailed on Monday, according to dispatches received yesterday tions in the Eastern countries. While none of the members of the Session would discuss yesterday upon his candidature for the vacant pulpit of the no doubt that his departure was somewhat unexgraph of the action taken by the Session last Thursday, and is understood to have been requested to postpone his departure aintil arter the meeting of the congregation next Monday. It is certain, however, that Mr. Connell's leaving will in no way of femirine persistency it should be said that not one of these failed to complete the full eighteen holes. This is more than twice the number who finished in last year's champlonship, where only twenty-three out of the thirty-three participants turned in complete scores.

Not only was the tournament larger, but the styles and quality of golf displayed was immensely superior to anything that has been seen in women's golf in this country. It is doubtful if even in the women's champlonships of Great Britain a more brilliant or finished performance has been witnessed than Miss Hoyt's game yesterday. The story of her round is one of perfect play, so gracefully and successfully done that it seemed almost without effort. She was paired with Mrs. A. De Witt Cochrane, of Ardsley, who had as her coach and golfing mentor Willie Tucker, the St. Andrews affect the determination of the Session to urge

WEDDINGS PAST AND TO COME.

The marriage of Miss Rose Levy, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moses Levy, of No. 130 West One-hundred-and-twenty-second-st., to Samuel Bach took place at 6 o'clock last evening in the corridor of the white ballroom at Sherry's. Fifth-ave. and Forty-fourth-st. The Rev. Dr. Joseph Silverman, of the Temple Emanu-El, performed the ceremony. The bride wore a gown of heavy white satin, the skirt opening over a panel of accordion-pleated chiffon over white taffeta. The bodice had a yoke chiffon over white taffeta. The bodice had a yoke of chiffon, with revers of point lace. A coronet of orange blossoms fastened the veil of tuile. She carried a white satin prayerbook, from which hung a shower of lilies of the vailey. The maid of honor was Miss Saille Levy, sister of the bride. The best man was Ben Kollsch, of Brooklyn, and the ushers were Milton Sampson. Harry Dreyfus, Harry Nathan, of this city: John Leeson, of Brooklyn: Maurice Well and Jules Levy, brother of the bride. A reception and dinner followed in the white and gold haliroom. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Freedman, of Chicago; Mrs. N. Brown, of Houston, Tex.; Miss Restona Leeson, Mrs. H. Bach, the Misses Bach, Mrs. L. Schiff and Mr. and Mrs. Marcus Bach. Mr. and Mrs. Bach will be at home in November at No. 75 Hendrix-st., Brooklyn.

Miss Lilah H. Wetherbee, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Wetherbee, will be married to Harry Hoyt Good at 4 o'clock this afternoon in the Church of the Heaveniy Rest. Flith-ave, and Forty-fifth-st. The reception will be held at the Bucklingham Hotel. Mrs. Wetherbee entertained the members of the bridal party at dinner on Monday evention.

The wedding of Miss Ethel Sloan, daughter of the Rev. and Mrs. Arthur Sloan, of Sallor's Snug Harbor. Staten Island, to Beekman Hunt, of this city, will be celebrated this afternoon in the Ran-dall Memorial Church, Sallor's Snug Harbor.

The wedding of Miss Harriet Lesser, daughter of the late Samuel Lesser, to Max Engel will occur at Sherry's this evening.

The engagement is announced of Miss Marian Groves, daughter of Mrs. George M. Groves, of No. 64 West Fifty-fourth-st., to Adams Batchellor, also of this city.

Invitations have been received in this city for the marriage of Miss Helen King, daughter of Mrs. John King, to Baron Carl Giskra, Secretary of the Austro-Hungarian Legation at Berne, Switzerland, on Wednesday, October 25, in Trinity Church, Berne.

The marriage of Miss Cora B. Glover to Captain Elmore F. Austin, of the Tist Regiment, New-York Volunteers, will take place this afternoon at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. A. M. Glover, No. 109 West One-hundred-and-twenty-sixth-st.

The marriage of Miss Ethel Forbes Morgan daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. Forbes Morgan, of this city and Pau, France, to Wilfred Chapman, of London, will be solemnized to-day in St. Paul's Church, Knightsbridge, London.

Lewistown, Penn., Oct. 11 .- Dr. J. McC. Foreman, of Emmittsburg, Md. was married to Miss Rose Codort, of Gettysburg, Penn., to-day at St. John's Roman Catholic Church, in this place, by the Rev Roman Catholic Church, in this place, by the Rev.
John Codori, brother of the bride. The ceremonies were private, owing to the recent death of the father of Miss Codori. Dr. Foreman is a dentist in Maryland, and 's known in New-York, while his bride comes from one of the oldest families in the town of Gettysburg.

In a private parlor of the Hotel Buckingham, as noon yesterday, Thomas Wilbur Cridler, Third Assistant Secretary of State, was married to Miss E. Merrill Tellschow, of Berlin, Germany. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Dr. D. Parker Morgan, of the Church of the Heavenly Rest. The wedding was strictly private. Breakfast was served wedding was strictly private. Breakfast was served after the ceremony. And Mrs. Cridler will sail this morning on the St. Louis for Europe. After their sojourn abroad they will live in Washington. In a private parlor of the Hotel Buckingham, at

RECEPTION FOR WOMEN.

The Democratic Club has arranged for a reception for women, which will take place next Saturday, from 3 to 6 o'clock, at which an elaborate luncheon will be the prominent feature.